SLCC brings students to the Big Top

Ana Ramos

Staff Writer

Bruin Bash was the first big event of the year hosted by the Student Association (SLCCSA) at Salt Lake Community College, and everyone involved enjoyed themselves. Even with sudden gusts of wind out of nowhere, the Bruins didn't let anything stop them from having a great time.

Many students brought their friends and family to enjoy all the attractions SLCCSA provided. Ansley Roberts, a nursing major, said

"I like that there's such a diversity of everything. I met a lot of new people," says nursing major and SLCCSA member, Ansley Roberts.

This was also a chance to meet fellow students and make new friends while trying to win some SLCC apparel and/or candy. Sadie Rodriguez, who's majoring in social work, said

"I've been able to stand in line and get to meet new people, and I've been able to have new experiences like having my palm read and I've eaten a whole pineapple," says social work major, Sadie Rodriguez.

"It's been a really good time. I can't wait until next year."

During this get together, students had the chance to enjoy some great (and completely free) activities. There was outdoor laser tag, henna tattoos, cotton candy, popcorn, a photo booth, psychic sessions, and to top it all off, a magic and a comedy show.

"I think it's a really fun way for students to get involved with the school without really having any commitment," says psychology major and student ambassador, Vannie Bennett. "It's really just a big party where people can come and have fun and get involved in school and just have a good time and be able to feel like they're a part of the SLCC family and feel like they have a place where they can come to hang out and get to know new people."

Fun activities weren't the only things worth coming for, there were also food trucks and a variety of club stands.

New students tend to not know that SLCC has more than 70 clubs that anyone can join. The Bruin Bash is the first chance to check out what some of those clubs have to offer.

Some of the clubs that attended Bruin Bash were the SLCC Amigos Mentores, FOLIO (literary magazine), and the Multicultural Student Council, among others.

"Bruin Bash is very important to us to reach out to the Hispanic and Latin community so they know that there are people available to help them for any of their additional needs, and to reach out to other people and letting them know that we are looking for more peer mentors and we believe that students are the better mentors," says SLCC student and Amigos Mentor club member, Delia Kirk.

The Amigos Mentores program is having a free event September 6, from 3:00 pm to 5:00 pm, at the Taylorsville Redwood campus

Stephanie Fletcher spoke about the SLCC literary magazine and urges everyone to turn in their work (FOLIO accepts: poetry, prose, photography, and visual arts) by October 17 for a chance to be featured in this semester's edition of FOLIO.

If you missed Bruin Bash and would like to know more about what clubs you can join or some perks about being a Bruin, look out for the Club Rush event, Tuesday September 11, 12, and 13 from 11:00 am to 1:00 pm at multiple campuses where student clubs across campus come together and table their clubs for recruitment.

120 YARDS OF FURY: BRUIN SOCCER BEGINS 2018 CAMPAIGN

Autumn Lucas
Staff Writer

Mia Hamm, two time Women’s World Cup champion, said “I am a member of a team, and I rely on the team, I defer to it and sacrifice for it, because the team, not the individual, is the ultimate champion.” That idea certainly rings true for the Women’s soccer team at Salt Lake Community College. These ladies are a team, not only on the pitch, but on the sidelines, in the classroom, and everywhere in between.

So far this season, they are undefeated in non-conference, and setting the stage for an interesting and competitive run in the Southwestern Athletic Conference. They are connected in their goals, as Litzy Serna, a sophomore in her second year on the team, “Obviously our goal is to make it to nationals this year, but first win our first SWAC title, and kill it in the District tournament.” This is an attitude shared by the rest on the team. The players all feel that they have a really good team this year, and believe that they have a real chance to be successful.

The Lady Bruins truly exhibit that the team is the star, and each member is willing to go the extra mile for her teammates.

“My hope is that as we are only a two year school, that we can improve by building better and better chemistry on the field as we all train hard together in practice,” Drew Hanna, assistant coach for both the men’s and women’s teams, “If we can do this, our goals are achievable.”

We’ve been mainly focusing a game at a time and it has been going very well for us, staying on the same page,” Litzy added, “Our team chemistry is starting to show, hopefully our work rate continues to peak so we can reach our goals.”

“This is the hope for most teams, but it’s not often where the team comes together so quickly. They’re only a few games into the season, and the ladies are already in sync and winning games; it’s often not until halfway through a season that teams will be on the same page and know each other’s strengths and weaknesses like these ladies do. “Off the field friendships are very important to our program,” Litzy said, “Our culture is set by each individual on a daily basis, and it’s important that we’re all dialed in academically so that we can succeed athletically.

Everyone in the program is excited for this season, and are looking ahead with a lot of enthusiasm and positivity.

“Our goal this year is to get soccer’s banner up in the Lifetime Activities Center,” Brendan Lucas, the goalkeeper coach for the Bruins, “It’s been something the team’s been working toward for the entirety of the short life of the soccer program at SLCC.”

These ladies are looking to make history, as the first team to win their conference, but they also hope to do more, with the help of their school, teammates, and coaches. Support the soccer teams at Zions Bank Stadium in Herriman for all their home games.

Soccer, or futbol, is nicknamed the “beautiful game”, and if you watch our men’s team at SLCC, you can understand why. They are able to connect passes and score goals with such ease that it almost doesn’t seem like they’re working that hard. This group of young men are amazingly talented and well-rounded individuals that come together to make a spectacular team.

“I am most excited this season to be able to be around players that have a winning mentality. They train hard every day and it makes the games fun when they do well.” assistant coach Hanna said. This is apparent when you watch the team play; every second they are on the field, they are looking to do their best and win the match. Hanna went on to say, “My hopes for the teams are to win the conference and region to advance to the national tournament.”

The team has a number of strong, talented athletes, many of which come from different backgrounds, states, and even countries. This team is made up of a number of different international students from countries such as New Zealand, Mexico, Uganda, Greece, and many more. They come from all sides of the world to play alongside one another on the soccer field. The power of sports to bring people from all divisions into one place, with one goal, creating a team.

Hopes for both the men’s and women’s sides are extremely high, but they are nothing if not attainable for each team. Brendan Lucas, the goalkeeper coach for the teams, “Records are looking good, but we can’t rely upon that to make the team successful. We need to be working each and everyday to earn those wins.”

The soccer teams at SLCC have remained undefeated up to this point, and are looking to make a strong run once they enter into conference play. Lucas went on to add, “This is just our first mile in the marathon that is our season.”

Bruins participate in blood drive

Aramis Hicks

Staff Writer

The American Red Cross this past week visited Salt Lake Community College. Jose Romero who is in charge of the blood drive here at SLCC discusses many of the reasons why it is important for, not only our student body, but every citizen who is able to donate to the Red Cross. With only one donation, an individual will be able to aid up to three people in need. Each donation is separated to three components: platelets, plasma, and red cells, and sent to where it is needed across the country. Understanding the importance of these donations should play a huge factor in where one donates. While local plasma centers do pay for plasma donated, the plasma given is also used in other private ventures such as cosmetics and various research.

With the recent rise of plasma centers giving cash to those who donate, as well as just general uninterest, there has been a steady decline in donorship over the years this has hindered efforts, forcing the Red Cross to look for donations wherever they are able. According to Romero, at this year's SLCC local blood drive only 17 students signed up.

This is the third blood drive Romero has organized at SLCC, and they hold blood drives at BYU bi-weekly just to receive suitable donations. Romero says, donations are appreciated, even if it's just one person who donates, the help is tremendous to those in need.
